Article Overview

Yes, Huijue Group can produce optical modules and other optical components through its specialized subsidiaries.

Huijue Group has established subsidiaries such as Haian Guangyi Communication Technologies Co., Ltd. and Haian Huijue Communication Technologies Co., Ltd., which focus on the research, development, and mass production of optical passive components and optical fiber components . These subsidiaries are equipped with complete R&D systems, production facilities, marketing networks, and after-sales services, ensuring that Huijue can manufacture optical modules at scale .

Production and Capabilities

- o Manufacturing Facilities: Huijue operates production sites in Nantong, Jiangsu, with R&D centers in Huizhou, Guangdong, and Shanghai, supporting both standard and customized optical module production .
- o Product Range: The company can produce a variety of optical components, including fiber optic modules, and offers small-batch orders, even as low as a single unit, as well as OEM services .
- o Technical Expertise: Huijue has a senior technical team and over 300 patents, indicating strong R&D capabilities to develop and optimize optical modules for telecom and data communication applications .
- o Global Reach: Their products are exported internationally, demonstrating experience in meeting diverse technical standards and quality requirements .

Summary

Huijue Group is not only a leading manufacturer of energy storage systems but also a capable producer of optical modules through its dedicated subsidiaries. They provide flexible order quantities, OEM services, and maintain robust R&D and production infrastructure, making them a reliable supplier for optical communication components .
