

Article Overview

SudaChad Telecom, AFOSE WORKS Plc, QuestCom Africa, and NBS Tchad are key providers of fiber optic installation, maintenance, and repair services in Chad.

SudaChad Telecom

SudaChad Telecom holds a 20-year exclusive concession to manage, operate, and maintain Chad's government fiber assets, covering over 1,140 km of fiber optic cable from N'Djamena to Alginaina in Sudan. They provide high-capacity, carrier-grade services and full-service protection, making them a primary choice for large-scale fiber network maintenance and emergency repairs in Chad .

Africa Offshore Services and Engineering Works (AFOSE WORKS Plc)

AFOSE WORKS Plc offers optical fiber deployment both underground and aerial, including installation of ATB, TB, FDT for FTTH, FTTX, FTTD, and FTTA. They also provide fiber testing, splicing, termination, trenching, and manhole construction. Their operations cover Chad, Cameroon, Central African Republic, Gabon, and Congo, making them suitable for both onshore and offshore fiber projects .

QuestCom Africa

QuestCom Africa specializes in turnkey fiber optic solutions, including FTTX project implementation, network maintenance, and managed services. They provide 24/7 support for telecom networks, ensuring rapid response to fiber breaks and network issues. Their expertise includes green and hybrid power solutions for remote telecom sites, which is particularly useful for maintaining fiber networks in areas with limited grid access .

NBS Tchad

NBS Tchad focuses on high-speed fiber optic internet services and IT infrastructure modernization. They provide technical support, network optimization, and advice for upgrading existing fiber networks, making them a reliable partner for businesses seeking both installation and ongoing maintenance services .

Summary

For fiber optic cable fixing and maintenance in Chad, SudaChad Telecom is ideal for government and large-scale infrastructure projects, AFOSE WORKS Plc is suitable for both onshore and offshore fiber deployment, QuestCom Africa offers comprehensive turnkey solutions with 24/7 support, and NBS Tchad provides business-focused fiber services and technical expertise.
