A small residential distribution box in Suriname can cost around $50-$200, while larger or industrial-grade units may range from $500 to several thousand dollars, depending on specifications and installation requirements.

Local Pricing in Suriname

You can purchase surface-mounted small distribution boxes in Suriname through online retailers like Desertcart, which offers units with free delivery across the country. Prices for these small residential boxes typically start at around $50-$100, including shipping, import duties, and local delivery charges. This makes them accessible for standard home electrical setups.

Factors Affecting Cost

The price of a distribution box depends on several factors :

- o Material of the enclosure: Plastic, powder-coated steel, or stainless steel significantly affects cost.
- o Internal components: Empty boxes are cheaper, but adding circuit breakers, surge protectors, and busbars increases the price.
- o Capacity and voltage rating: Single-phase residential units are less expensive than three-phase commercial or industrial units.
- o Installation: Professional installation for residential setups can cost $1,300-$1,800, while complex industrial installations may involve higher labor and permit fees.
- o Environmental rating: Weather-resistant or outdoor-rated boxes carry premium pricing.

Commercial and Industrial Units

For larger commercial or industrial applications, distribution boxes can cost $500 to several thousand dollars, depending on durability, number of circuits, and advanced features like smart monitoring or remote control. Customization, such as specific mounting configurations or integration with building management systems, can further increase the total cost.
