

Article Overview

You can buy optical fiber cables from major online retailers like Amazon, Walmart, Best Buy, Target, Newegg, and specialized suppliers such as LANshack.

Online Retailers

- o Amazon offers a wide selection of fiber optic cables, including SC/APC, LC, and ST connectors, single-mode and multi-mode options, armored and outdoor-rated cables, and patch cords in various lengths from 1 meter to 300 meters .
- o Walmart stocks fiber optic internet cables, patch cords, and bulk cables suitable for home and office networks, including high-speed and weatherproof options .
- o Best Buy provides fiber optic cables for networking and audio applications, including Toslink digital optical cables, LC/SC patch cables, and high-performance duplex cables .
- o Target carries fiber optic cables for networking and electronics, with options for same-day delivery, in-store pickup, and various connector types .
- o Newegg specializes in networking and data center fiber optic cables, offering brands like Tripp Lite, StarTech, and Panduit, with options for single-mode, multi-mode, and high-speed industrial cables .

Specialized Suppliers

- o LANshack allows you to purchase fiber optic cables by the foot, with custom lengths, multiple strand counts (2, 6, 12, 24), and jacket types for indoor, outdoor, armored, or aerial installations. They offer OM1, OM3, OM4, OM5, and single-mode fiber types for enterprise, data center, and telecom applications .
- o Monoprice and StarTech provide high-quality fiber optic patch cables, bulk cables, and industrial-grade options suitable for professional networking setups .

Tips for Buying

- o Determine the type of fiber: Single-mode for long-distance, multi-mode for shorter distances.
- o Check connector types: LC, SC, ST, MPO, or Toslink depending on your equipment.
- o Consider jacket and environment: Indoor, outdoor, armored, or plenum-rated for safety and durability.
- o Length and strand count: Choose based on your network layout and number of connections. By using these retailers and suppliers, you can find fiber optic cables suitable for home, office, or industrial networking needs, with options for both standard and custom configurations.
