

Article Overview

Home electrical distribution boxes in Samoa can be sourced locally through suppliers like Bluebird Lumber & Hardware and internationally via platforms like Desertcart.

Local Suppliers

Bluebird Lumber & Hardware Co Ltd has been serving Samoa since 1986 and offers a range of building and home improvement products, which may include electrical distribution equipment suitable for residential installations . While specific product listings for distribution boxes are not detailed on their website, contacting them directly can provide information on availability, technical specifications, and installation support. EPC (Electric Power Corporation), Samoa's main electricity provider, manages the distribution network and may provide guidance or approved suppliers for home distribution boxes, especially for new connections or upgrades . EPC operates multiple generation and distribution facilities across Upolu and Savaii, ensuring compliance with local electrical standards.

International and Online Options

Desertcart Samoa offers a variety of electrical distribution boxes, including the WXQ XQ plastic distribution boxes suitable for home electrical installations. These products are sourced from authorized international manufacturers in the US, UK, UAE, and India, and come with manufacturer warranties. Desertcart handles customs clearance and provides delivery across Samoa, typically within 3-9 business days . Prefabricated Substations (ZBW Type) are also available from international manufacturers, such as Dongfeng, which provide complete distribution equipment sets including low-voltage switchgear and metering devices. These are suitable for larger residential complexes or commercial applications and are designed for safe, reliable operation under various environmental conditions .

Recommendations

- o For standard residential distribution boxes, contacting Bluebird Lumber & Hardware or checking Desertcart Samoa is recommended for availability and delivery options.
- o For larger or specialized installations, such as multi-unit residential or commercial projects, consider prefabricated substation solutions from international suppliers.
- o Always ensure that the distribution boxes comply with Samoa's electrical safety standards and are installed by certified electricians, potentially coordinated with EPC for grid connection. By combining local suppliers and international e-commerce options, homeowners and contractors in Samoa can access a wide range of distribution boxes suitable for various residential and commercial needs.
