

Article Overview

Leading Southern European manufacturers offer fully customized industrial distribution boxes with OEM/ODM capabilities, certified quality, and compliance with EU standards.

Key Manufacturers and Capabilities

Delvalle Box (Spain) Delvalle Box specializes in high-resistance electrical enclosures for demanding industrial environments. They provide 100% customized solutions based on client drawings, technical specifications, or functional requirements. Their services include consulting, engineering, and full integration of components inside the cabinets. With over 50 years of experience, they offer short lead times, certified quality, and scalability from single prototypes to large industrial series, ensuring reliability and compliance with European standards .

EBASEE (Europe-wide, including Southern Europe) EBASEE delivers customized low-voltage distribution boxes with a focus on industrial applications. They provide end-to-end solutions covering design, testing, and quality assurance. Their OEM/ODM capabilities allow continuous product development, fast technical support, and market entry acceleration. EBASEE emphasizes high reliability, safety, and consistency, making them suitable for companies expanding into industrial electrical sectors .

SIA ELDI (Latvia, EU-compliant) ELDI manufactures a wide range of distribution boxes, from small control panels to large automation cabinets. Their products comply with EU directives such as the Low Voltage Electric Equipment Directive 2014/35/EK and Electromagnetic Compatibility Directive 2014/30/EK, and are built according to IEC 61439 standards. They provide CE marking and EU declarations of conformity, ensuring regulatory compliance for industrial and commercial applications .

Accio (Europe-wide) Accio offers a platform to connect with verified customized distribution box manufacturers. They provide full customization options including size, voltage, and design flexibility. Their focus is on engineering expertise, compliance, and long-term support, helping clients select manufacturers that meet both technical and regulatory requirements .

Considerations for Choosing a Manufacturer

- o Customization and Engineering Support: Ensure the manufacturer can adapt designs to your specific industrial needs.
- o Compliance and Certification: Verify adherence to EU directives and IEC standards for safety and market access.
- o Production Flexibility: Look for manufacturers capable of handling both prototypes and large-scale production.
- o Lead Times and Technical Assistance: Fast response and ongoing support are critical for industrial projects.
- o OEM/ODM Experience: Manufacturers with proven OEM/ODM capabilities can support continuous product development and innovation. These manufacturers provide reliable solutions for companies in
